

FROTH & FURY – NEW BREED 2027

Terms & Conditions of Entry

The Froth & Fury New Breed Program (“New Breed”) is an artist development initiative designed to provide young South Australian musicians with the opportunity to experience and perform in a professional festival environment.

By submitting an application, entrants agree to these Terms & Conditions of Entry.

1. Eligibility

New Breed is open to musicians who:

- are aged 10–18 years on 30 January 2027;
- ordinarily reside in South Australia; and
- have the consent of a parent or legal guardian to participate.

Applications are open to bands and solo artists, including vocalists and instrumentalists.

For bands, all performing members must be under 18 years of age on 30 January 2027.

Froth & Fury reserves the right to request reasonable evidence of an entrant’s age, residency or other eligibility before confirming their participation.

2. Audition Submission

Entrants must submit a 1–2 minute audition video through the official New Breed application process by the advertised closing date.

Auditions may feature:

- original music or a cover;
- vocal or instrumental performance; and
- professionally recorded or mobile phone footage.

Professional recording or production quality is not required and will not form part of the assessment. Mobile phone recordings are encouraged and accepted.

Entrants are responsible for ensuring they have permission to submit and perform the material contained in their audition.

Only one application is required per band or solo artist.

3. Selection of Artists

Froth & Fury intends to select:

4 Bands + 4 Solo Artists

to participate in the 2027 New Breed Program.

Applications will be assessed by the New Breed Program Management Team. Selection may consider:

- musical ability and performance skill;
- stage presence and confidence;
- creativity and artistic potential;
- individuality and originality; and
- overall suitability for the New Breed Program.

These criteria reflect the development focus established for New Breed, which considers musical skill, stage presence and artistic potential rather than professional production quality.

Selection decisions are final. Due to the expected number of applications, Froth & Fury may not be able to provide individual feedback to unsuccessful applicants.

Selection as a New Breed artist does not guarantee that an artist will receive a prize or award.

4. Festival Performance

Selected artists must be available to participate in New Breed and perform at Froth & Fury Festival on 30 January 2027 and be onsite from 10:30am - 4:30pm.

The program is designed to give young musicians practical experience in a professional festival environment, including working with production personnel, backline, sound and technical requirements and performing in front of a festival audience.

Performance times, duration, stage allocation, technical arrangements and other production requirements will be determined by Froth & Fury.

Participants must comply with reasonable instructions from Froth & Fury staff, production personnel, venue management and authorised program representatives.

If a selected artist is unable to participate, Froth & Fury reserves the right to offer their position to another eligible applicant.

5. Parent or Guardian Consent

All selected participants must provide completed Parent/Guardian Consent before participating in New Breed activities or performing at Froth & Fury Festival.

For bands, consent must be provided separately for each individual band member.

A parent, legal guardian or approved responsible adult is required to accompany participants during New Breed activities and at the festival.

One General Admission is provided for the supervising Parent or Guardian.

Failure to provide the required consent may result in the participant being unable to take part in the program.

6. Photography, Video & Media Consent

Photography, filming and promotional permissions for participants under 18 will be managed through a separate Media Consent Form.

Where required, Froth & Fury will obtain consent from the participant's parent or legal guardian before using identifiable photographs, video footage or other media featuring the participant for promotional purposes.

Participation in New Breed does not, by itself, constitute unrestricted consent for the use of a minor's image or likeness.

Froth & Fury's existing safeguarding framework also provides for the use of first names or artist names in campaign material rather than linking young participants to personal social media accounts.

7. Prizes & Artist Development Opportunities

Selected New Breed artists will have the opportunity to participate in the live program, with prizes and artist development opportunities awarded as advertised by Froth & Fury.

Where a prize or development opportunity is supplied by a program partner or third party, participation or redemption may also be subject to that provider's reasonable terms, availability and participation requirements.

If an advertised prize becomes unavailable for reasons outside Froth & Fury's reasonable control, Froth & Fury reserves the right to substitute it with an alternative of comparable value or benefit.

8. Judging & Awards

Live performances may be assessed by a panel of music industry professionals from Carclew and Northern Sound System.

Judging may consider musical ability, performance skill, stage presence, audience engagement, creativity and artistic potential.

Awards and prizes will be determined in accordance with the judging process established by Froth & Fury.

The judging panel's decisions are final.

9. Participant Conduct

New Breed aims to provide a safe, supportive and inclusive environment for young musicians.

Participants are expected to behave respectfully towards fellow artists, staff, volunteers, mentors, contractors, festival patrons and members of the public.

Froth & Fury reserves the right to remove a participant from the program where behaviour presents a safety risk, seriously breaches festival or venue requirements, or is considered seriously inappropriate.

10. Child Safety & Participant Welfare

The safety and wellbeing of young participants is a priority of the New Breed Program.

New Breed will operate in accordance with applicable child safety requirements and Froth & Fury's safeguarding procedures.

Relevant program staff and mentors will hold appropriate Working With Children Checks where required, and participants will have access to appropriate supervision and safe backstage arrangements. These measures are consistent with the safeguarding framework established for the program.

Parents or guardians are encouraged to advise Froth & Fury of any accessibility, communication or other support requirements that may assist their young person to participate safely and fully in the program.

11. Health & Safety

Participants must follow all reasonable health and safety instructions provided by Froth & Fury, Adelaide Showgrounds, production personnel and authorised program representatives.

Froth & Fury may prevent or discontinue a participant's involvement in an activity where reasonably necessary to protect the health, safety or welfare of the participant or others.

12. Changes, Withdrawal or Cancellation

Froth & Fury reserves the right to reasonably modify the New Breed Program, including performance schedules, program activities, judging arrangements or prizes, where circumstances require.

If the festival or New Breed Program cannot proceed as planned due to circumstances outside Froth & Fury's reasonable control, affected participants will be advised as soon as reasonably practicable.

Entrants or their parent/guardian should notify Froth & Fury as soon as possible if they wish to withdraw from the program.

13. Privacy

Personal information collected through the New Breed application process will be used for purposes associated with administering the program, including:

- assessing applications;
- communicating with entrants and parents/guardians;
- confirming eligibility;
- coordinating performances and program activities;
- participant safety and welfare; and
- administering prizes and artist development opportunities.

Information relating to participants under 18 will be handled with particular consideration for their privacy and safety.

Personal information will not be publicly disclosed except where appropriate consent has been obtained or where disclosure is otherwise required or permitted by law.

14. Acceptance of Terms

Submitting an application confirms that the entrant has read and agrees to these Terms & Conditions of Entry.

As all New Breed participants will be under 18, participation is also conditional upon Froth & Fury receiving the required Parent/Guardian Consent.

Successful applicants may also be asked to complete additional documentation relating to participant safety, medical or accessibility requirements, emergency contacts and media consent before participating in the program.
